

Computer Networks

Introduction

A computer network allows devices to communicate and exchange data. Networks can range from small local networks to large interconnected systems.

HTTP and HTTPS

HTTP is an application-layer protocol used for communication between clients and servers. HTTPS adds encryption through TLS to protect data exchanged between them.

Client and Server

In a typical web application, a client sends a request to a server. The server processes the request and returns a response containing data or an appropriate status.